Public Provident Fund Scheme Guidelines :

- The Public Provident Fund Scheme is a statutory scheme of the Central Government framed under the provisions of Public Provident Fund Act, 1968.
- An individual can open a Public Provident Fund account in his own name. Individual can also open an additional account on behalf of each minor of whom he/she is the guardian. He/She can subscribe any amount in multiple of Rs. 5 not less than Rs. 500 and not more than Rs.1,50,000 in a year in all accounts put together. A year for the purpose of the scheme is financial year.
- Only one PPF account can be opened by an individual in one name. If two accounts are opened by the subscriber in his name by mistake, the second account will be treated as irregular account and will not carry any interest.
- The subscriptions can be deposited in lump sum or in the convenient installments. Not more than 12 installments can be deposited in a year.
- The balance in the fund earns interest as per the rate fixed by the Central Government from time to time. The interest will be allowed for a calendar month on the lowest balance at the credit of an account between the close of the 5th day and the end of the month.
- The account can be closed on maturity i.e. after expiry of 15 years from the close of the financial year in which initial subscription was made.
- PPF account can be continued after maturity for a block period of 5 year.
- A subscriber can take loan from the fund and can make withdrawal as per the rule prescribed by Central Government under the provisions of Public Provident Fund Act, 1968.
- A subscriber may nominate one or more person. No nomination can, however, be made in respect of an account opened on behalf of a minor.
- The interest credited to the customer is totally exempt from income tax and the amount standing to the credit of the subscriber is totally exempt from wealth tax.
- The account office can condone default in payment of subscriptions in the PPF account by charging the fee of Rs.50/- for each year of default, along with arrears of subscriptions at the rate of Rs.500/- per year.

Subscription to Public Provident Fund qualify for deduction under 80C of Income Tax Act
